

Skydiving from a helicopter is the ONLY way to skydive over Interlaken. Jump from 4,000m (14,000ft) above the town and get the best views of the two lakes and the Eiger, Mönch and Jungfrau.

Before the skydive, you will take a 5-7-minute scenic flight through the narrow valley of Lütschental up to the breathtaking Schynige Platte mountain ridge. During this flight you will be taking in the panoramic views of Interlaken, the two beautiful glacier lakes either side and the world-famous Eiger, Mönch, and Jungfrau in the background.

Once you reach 14,000ft/4000m, stand outside the helicopter with your instructor, pausing to appreciate the moment before leaping into a thrilling freefall up to 200km/h that lasts about 45 seconds. When the parachute opens at about 5'500ft/1500m, you will then fly over Interlaken with the two glistening lakes either side. Your instructor will then land you both safely back at the drop zone where you can relax and enjoy this incredible feeling you get from skydiving.
